DEMOCRATS SEE BREACH WIDEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Democratic Leader Oscar W. Underwood's decision not to attend the Jackson day banquet here next Monday night, which became known today immediately after the announcement that the managing committee had given W. J. Bryan, at his own request, the last place on the speaking program, threw Democrats in congress into a flurry. Mr. Underwood declared he would not attend the banquet because of his recent attack of threatened appendicitis. His physician, he said, had ordered him to attend no banquets and particularly to make no speeches, nor do anything requiring unusual exertion.

"I will not have any speech to be read at the dinner," added Mr. Underwood. "If I were there to make a speech, I should desire to deliver it myself."

Nevertheless, the forecast of the absence of the majority leader of the house from a Democratic national affair at which other leaders of the party and men who are mentioned as candidates for the presidential nomination will be present, aroused discussion in connection with the so-called break between Bryan and Underwood.

Mr. Underwood's letter to the managing committee announcing he would not attend, was sent after it became known that Bryan was to speak. The arrangement did not meet the approval of many leaders, but it will stand. Some of Mr. Underwood's friends point out that Mr. Bryan, speaking last on the program, would be in a position of decided advantage to make declarations which of necessity would remain unanswered, and that such a contingency was to be avoided. Others said Mr. Underwood did not wish to enter an oratorical contest with Mr. Bryan.

The controversy between Mr. Bryan and Leader Underwood, which developed over the woolen schedule, the secret caucus and other party affairs at the special session of congress last year, recently was renewed when Mr. Bryan practically referred to Mr. Underwood as Wall Street's choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mr. Underwood never has denied that his political views differ much from Bryan's, but many of Underwood's friends have declared that he has no hesitancy in expressing himself concerning Mr. Bryan's position.

Mr. Underwood had a conference with Speaker Clark today, but if the Jackson day affair was discussed the fact was not announced.

PUBLISHER HEARST QUEST OF EXPOSITION DIRECTORS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—Directors of the Panama-Pacific International exposition were hosts at a banquet held at the Palace hotel tonight, at which William R. Hearst, the publisher, was the guest of honor. The banquet was largely attended, the purpose being to express appreciation of the efforts of Mr. Hearst at the time San Francisco and New Orleans were rivals for government selection of an exposition site.

Among the speakers was Henry F. Ashurst, United States senator-elect from Arizona, who landed the guest of the evening.

HEINZE SOLD OUT FOR TEN MILLION

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 3.—In the hearing in the suit of Peter Geddes and others against the Anaconda Copper Mining company, brought for the purpose of setting aside the sale of the Alpey Gold and Silver Mining company to the Anaconda company, John Gillie, general manager of the Anaconda, called to the stand by the plaintiff in efforts to show that the Amalgamated and Anaconda companies are operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, testified today concerning the purchase by the Amalgamated of the Heinze properties at the conclusion of Butte's famous "copper war." Gillie testified that Heinze was paid $10,000,000 for his holdings, making public for the first time the basis of settlement. He also testified that former Senator W. A. Clark was paid $5,000,000 for the properties he sold the Amalgamated two years ago.

The complainants completed the introduction of testimony this afternoon and J. Walsh, attorney for the plaintiffs, was the first witness called by the defense. Mr. Walsh was asked where he secured the information on which he drew the complaint in the suit, the complaint being in detail the purported history of the organization of the Amalgamated and the efforts to form a combine.

Mr. Walsh replied that he had secured this information from his clients in New York, Chicago, and Salt Lake, as well as "from other sources."

The taking of testimony in the hearing will be completed tomorrow.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 3.—Beating aloft a big red banner with the inscription "Socialism, the hope of the world," and headed by a brass band, a delegation of about 100 Socialists from Schenectady, Albany, Troy and New York made a descent on Albany today.

The occasion was in the induction into office of Herbert M. Merrill, the Socialist member of the assembly from Schenectady county, who was escorted by the marchers to the capitol. Each Socialist wore a red ribbon. There were a number of women among the marchers and "Votes for women" signs had a conspicuous place in the line.

SOCIETY

ANNUAL AUXILIARY PARTY.

Never in the history of Clara Barton division of the G. I. A. has so large an attendance of the members of the G. I. A. as were present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Helms on Jefferson avenue New Year's night been noted.

The large and spacious parlors were aglow with light and cheer. The host and hostess received the guests and made them welcome. Progressive high-five was the special diversion for the evening's entertainment. After six games had been played the order was given that supper would soon be served in the dining room below. Each engineer received an order to "take his wife or someone else" and "line up" to wait the signal from the banquet hall. With Mr. and Mrs. John Forrest coupled ahead they knew they would be "in the clear" in a short time. The tables were laden with every conceivable good thing to eat and drink, true to the instincts of railroad men. After the rum, grog, and no exception to the rule. Toasts were responded to by Brothers "Doc" Murphy, E. O. Halstead, Roger Shields, J. H. Wardleigh, Arthur McKelley, "Our Absent Members," "Visiting Members," etc., were the chief toasts, while a message from a member of the G. I. A. who is wintering in San Diego was read and listened to with kindly thoughts for the sister who would think of the little gathering with a message of love and good wishes.

The summons to "couple in" and run extra back to the parlors was obeyed, where a delightful surprise awaited the guests. Mrs. Dempson, in a few well chosen remarks presented Mrs. Helms, the past president, in behalf of Clara Barton division, with a beautiful cut glass dish, and Mrs. Minnie Sales, the secretary, with a lovely sugar bowl and creamer mounted in silver filigree. Both ladies responded in an able manner, notwithstanding the fact that they were wholly unprepared for anything of the kind.

The following ladies and gentlemen will ever cherish bright thoughts for the "watch party of 1912":

Mr. and Mrs. J. Forrest and daughter; Mrs. G. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKelley, Mr. and Mrs. Shields, Mr. and Mrs. T. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bogart, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. G. Leids, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Loy, Mr. and Mrs. James Wardleigh, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Healy, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Helms, Mrs. Tom Bewlands, Mrs. Leo Krauss and daughter, Mrs. Dave Johnson, Mrs. Seaton, Mrs. Bradberry, Mrs. Frank Neesley, Mrs. Ed Baum, Mrs. L. Dempson, Mrs. Frank Freeman, Miss Nettie Freeman, Mrs. A. Noble, Miss Irma Noble, Mrs. Husbands, Mrs. Baker, Mr. H. Lee, Mr. Charley Noble, Mr. W. B. Murphy.

The banquet hall was beautifully arranged and decorated for the occasion in the colors and emblems of the Standard. Those who worked so faithfully to make it the success it was were Mrs. Wardleigh, Mrs. Kate Bogart, Mrs. L. Johnson, Mrs. T. Allen, Mrs. L. Dempson and last but not least, Mrs. Helms.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Miss Josephine Browning was given a delightful surprise by a number of her friends who arrived last evening unannounced at the Browning home, 2747 Adams avenue. Instrumental music and songs, games and merry social diversions, and the serving of an elaborate lunch, by Miss Ardelie Browning, who arranged this feature of the evening, in her own unique and graceful way, rounded out the happy occasion.

Miss Irma Browning rendered some beautiful piano solos that were especially pleasing and other songs and piano selections were enjoyed by the merry party, who remained until the last car.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Browning, Viola Reed, Mary Neill and Sarah Wilson, Hattie Jones, Cassie Bybee, Charlene Major, Messrs. John W. Scowcroft, Ernest Browning, Ed Bingham, Walter and Andrew Wilson, Jr., Bert Reed, Preston Badger, Erik Isaacson.

WATCH PARTY.

A "Watch Party" was given Sunday evening at the home of Miss Marilla Wadman, 1927 Steele avenue. The evening was spent in various games. At midnight a dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Edith Wadman, assisted by Miss Nora Edlund and Mayne Fenstermaker.

GEO. W. CULVER AGAIN ROBBED

Induced to Go to a Place on Twenty-second Street to Obtain the Return of His Wife's Diamonds and $300, the Ransom Money, Is Taken From Him at the Point of a Carbine.

In response to an advertisement appearing for several days in the Standard, inserted by George W. Culver who, with his wife, was held up about two weeks ago and several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds stolen, an answer was received, Mr. Culver answering with another advertisement as follows:

"JAMES BROWN, your terms are satisfactory to me. My Phone number is 674-K."

It seems that during the time of the appearance of these advertisements, Mr. Culver and the mysterious "James Brown" were negotiating for the return of the diamonds. Finally an agreement was reached whereby Culver was to meet the man calling himself Brown at a point near Twenty-second street and the railroad tracks last night, bringing with him $300 which it was agreed should be turned over to Brown and the jewels then returned to Culver. Mr. Culver kept his part of the agreement and went to the designated spot some late last night. It seems it was near the corner of some building, the exact location, however, could not be learned, for a window was raised, a carbine shoved into the small of Culver's back and he was relieved of the $300, after which the robbers departed for parts unknown, so that it appears that Mr. Culver is out the $300 as well as the diamonds.

When seen today Mr. Culver refused to discuss the matter but admitted the essential facts.

Within three or four minutes after the money was taken the police arrived, as it appears they were working in conjunction with Mr. Culver, but it is Mr. Culver's belief that had they arrived when the robbers were holding the gun at his back, he would have been killed instantly.

"Nothing," says Mr. Culver, "could ever induce me to go through such an experience again, and I believe myself fortunate that I escaped with my life."

There can be no doubt that there is a band of criminals of a most desperate and nervy variety operating in Ogden. Though the police refuse to any knowledge of the affair, it is certain they are in full possession of the facts and it is probable will shortly give out a statement.

MANY AT IDITAROD

Miners Received $6 a Day and Board Last Summer

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 4.—"Despite reports that few would spend the winter in the Iditarod, I believe that fully 2,000 persons are wintering there," said George Reilly, a well known Alaska mine operator, who arrived yesterday from the north. "Only 250 men came out over the trail this fall after the freeze-up," said Mr. Reilly. "There will be plenty of work in the camp next summer. We ran short handed all last summer, although wages were $6 a day and board."

JURY IN THE FLINT CASE

In Judge Howell's division of the district court this morning, the case of Ellis Flint against James H. Hargreaves, administrator of the estate of Richard Flint, deceased, was taken up for trial and the following jury empaneled: Walter Clark, Albert Green, J. D. Wilson, C. D. Ives, R. T. Hume, Elliott Kennedy, R. B. Gibson and Benjamin Blitton.

After the testimony of Mrs. Bertha H. Flint, wife of the plaintiff, to the effect that her husband loaned Richard Flint $1,200 April 30, 1909, had been given, the further hearing of the case was continued until Friday morning at 10 o'clock. The case will be concluded tomorrow.

A TWO-SIDED ANSWER.

"John," said Senator Carter of Private John Allen, "you are a farmer and I want your opinion on an agricultural question. Should a man sit on the far side or the near side of a cow to milk her?"

"Both," replied Allen.

"Now, John," protested the senator, "be serious for once. This is an important question. Should a man sit on the far side or the near side of a cow when milking?"

"Both," Allen replied again: "the farthest side of the cow and the nearest to a soft place in the pasture."—Saturday Evening Post.

STRUCK DOWN BY UNKNOWN MAN

Matt Biel, a young man of this city, was the victim of an assault Monday night while joy riding with a crowd of young men at Marriott. Mr. Biel does not know exactly what struck him, for he was so dazed at the time that he does not fully understand just what took place. He was taken to a doctor who took a number of stitches in an ugly scalp wound in the back of his head.

The party of young fellows were out sleigh-riding and during the evening some of the merry-makers paraded freely of the flowing bowl. A free-for-all encounter ensued in which all took a part, but Biel was the only man injured. He says that some one struck him in the back of the head with a blunt instrument which felled him to the ground.
